Mason High School
Mason, Michigan

Foreword

We, the Anchora Staff, proudly present the nineteen hundred sixty-eight edition of the Mason High School yearbook.

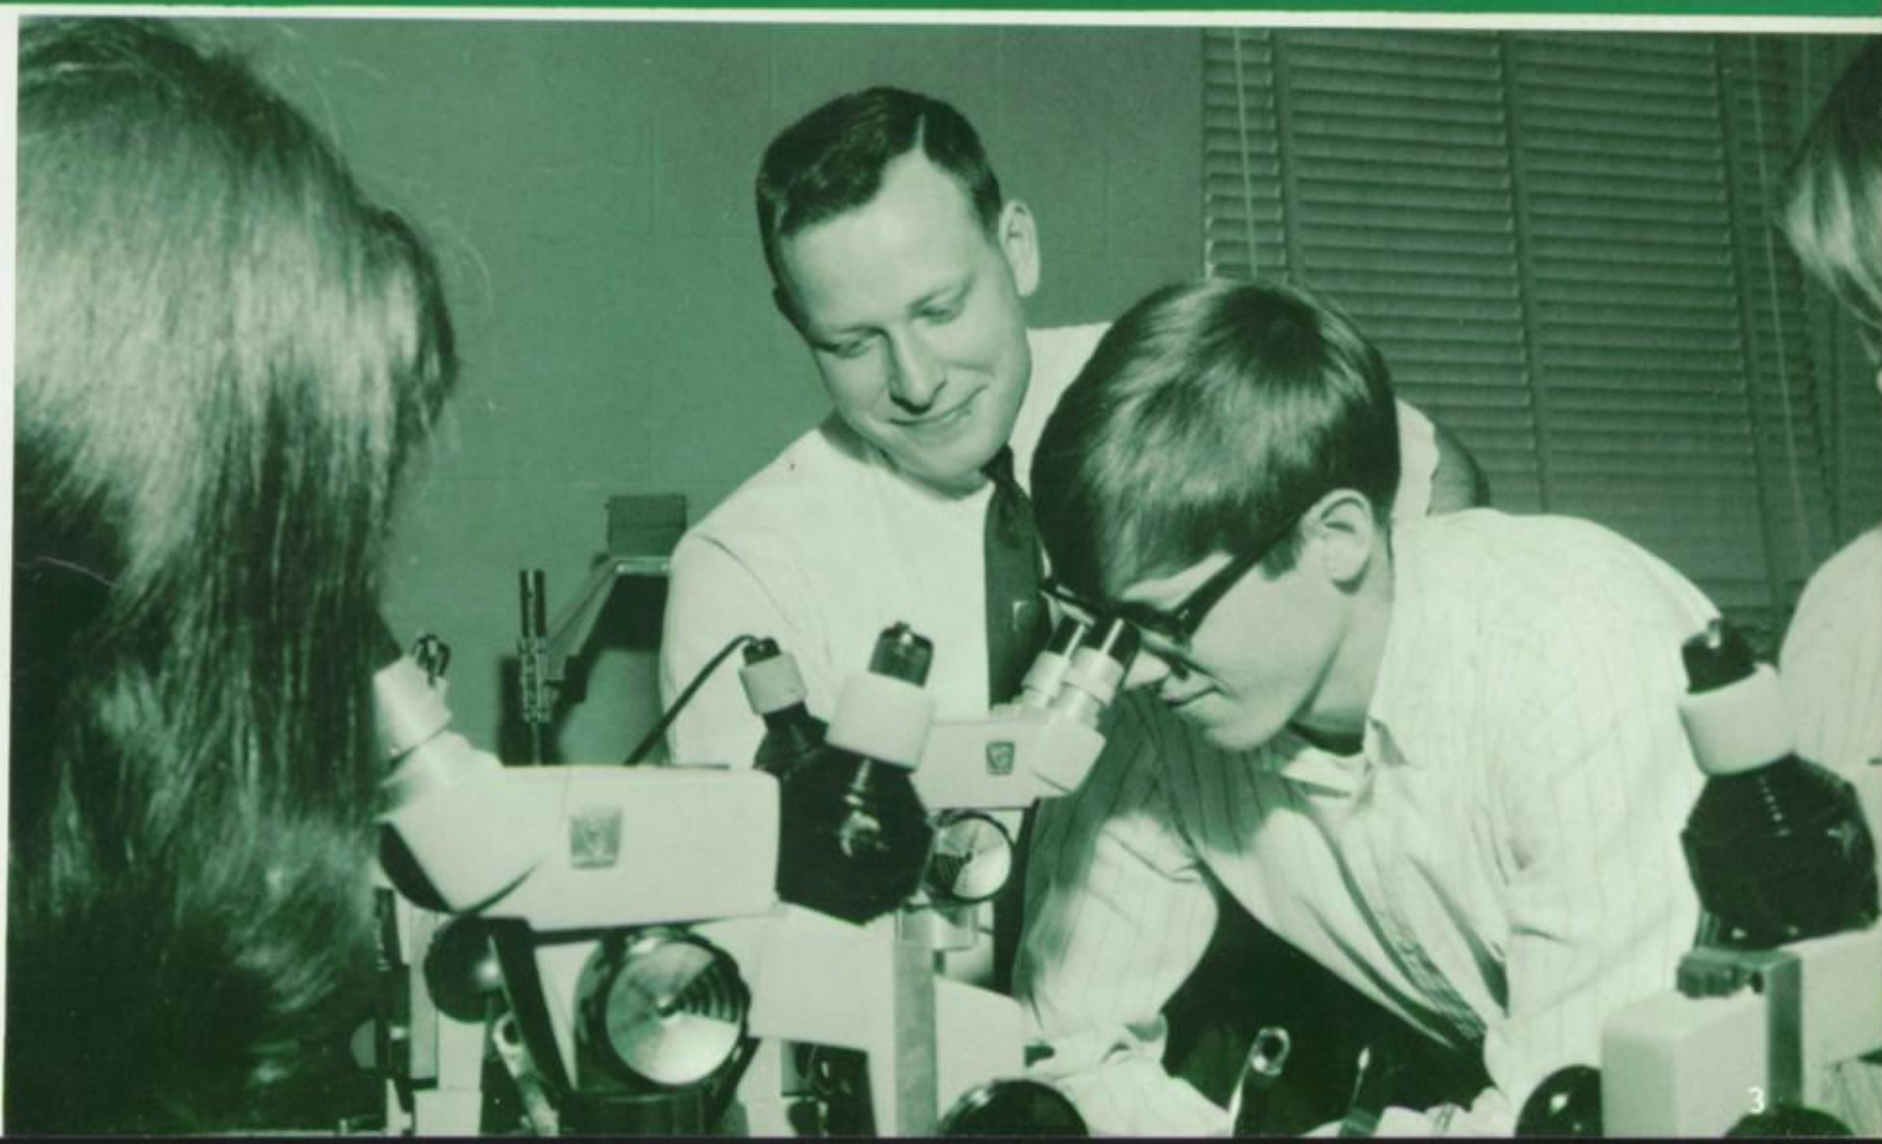

It has been changed in many ways, but enough tradition has been retained to make it, we believe, the best ever.

We have chosen "emotions" as our theme, and we have filled the following pages with the typical faces and the feelings they express at M.H.S. If in future years, while thumbing through this book, it brings back to your face similar expressions, we will feel our task fulfilled.

Dedication

We, the members of the 1968 Anchora class, in behalf of the entire student body of Mason High School wish to dedicate this edition to Mrs. Virginia Elliott.

Her unselfish spirit in the interest of M.H.S. is demonstrated by the manner in which she performs her many tasks. She gives much but asks for nothing in return. Her valuable contributions to Mason High and the class of '68 will probably never be fully realized. We feel her long hours of tireless effort can never be repaid but we hope this dedication serves as a token of our thanks.

Faculty faces flash frenzied feelings . . .

Faculty

We try harder!

No, this isn't an Avis or a Hertz commercial.

It is the bleating cry of the harassed teacher. It is the task they are faced with that justifies their cry. They must try to meet the needs of each student, and yet present, explain, and "pound in" the knowledge on which the future relies.

Turn the pages, and meet the faculty of Mason High School.

Organizations

The organizations of a school—its clubs and groups—are its very life; each has an emotion connected with it. Cheerleaders exhibit pep to help lead the team to victory; the Honor Society lends a dignified air; G.A.A. instill enthusiasm in girls for sports; and F.H.A. creates a productive mood in homemaking. In return, the activity exercised in the organization, whether it be dancing to the vibrant rhythm of a flamenco guitarist or reviving ancient madrigals rounds out each participating member of the group.

Musical Groups

Music adds a little zing to life, and let's face it—our vocal music department has done a grand job in providing this lift. The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, Mixed Chorus, and the Madrigals perform regularly throughout the year, giving concerts at Christmas and springtime, performing in the Solo-ensemble and Choral Festivals, and helping sponsor the spring musical, Guys and Dolls.

M-Club Members

The Bulldogs' Brawniest

M-Club means the pride and satisfaction of winning a Varsity letter in some sport, but it also means going through one full week of treacherous tortures to join this club. Pledges must hand out gum and salute a member anytime he sees one, and he must also make a large wooden "M" to collect the signatures of all members before the week is up. To collect a signature, the pledge may be required to do some simple little task, such as doing 25 pushups on his fingertips with two fresh eggs under his hands. The week passes slowly for the pledges, but they would all do it over if they had the choice.

Pep Personified

The Pep Club, the biggest school organization, has the most activities too. The purpose of this club is to create a unity of the student body and to encourage enthusiasm and interest in school activities. This is exactly what happens when this club paints signs for games, keeps the bulletin boards up to date, makes displays in the glass cases, sponsors contests of all kinds and gives out prizes, buys pennants for the gym, and sponsors all-school parties. All of these activities help bring our student body closer, as it has been this year. Of course, though, none of this could have been possible without their enthusiastic sponsor, Mrs. Clara Thompson.

Broadway's Best

The Drama Club provides the atmosphere to excite members into helping with full-scale productions by sponsoring the musical every year. Each year the musicals get better and more colossal with the production taking up the time of most of the students in our school. The Thespian Troupe, an elite drama club, helps to promote the dramatic arts by giving recognition for outstanding achievements in the productions put on. This is done by acquiring a certain number of points that are required to become a member. Mrs. Josephine Oesterle, sponsor of these two groups, deserves a hearty pat on the back for building up these clubs to what they are today.

The Mason Senior High School Band works very hard each year to achieve its goal of educating, enriching, and uplifting spirits through good music. They reach their goal by performing in numerous concerts throughout the year, giving half-time shows at home football games, competing in the District and State Festival Concerts and in the District and State Solo and Ensemble Festivals, and presenting musical tributes to servicemen in our annual Memorial Day services.

It's clear to see that, with such a band, M.H.S. students have every reason to be proud.

They Serve You In Student Government

This year the Student Council representatives were elected on a class basis rather than from homerooms. The five representatives from each class met weekly, primarily for the purpose of managing the affairs of general interest to the students. Student Council has sponsored successful football and basketball homecoming games and dances. They plan to purchase at least one new trophy case. The final ratification of a traditional football game with Holt is depending on the vote of the respective student bodies. Plans are also under way for a landscaping project for the new courtyard.

Committee work takes up time.

Use Visual Aids To Get Better Grades Says S.L.A.A.M.

The main function of the A.V. Boys is to run the projectors for the teachers when they are showing film strips or movies to their classes. They also play records for the many dances that are sponsored and learn to run the stage equipment for the musicals that are put on each year.

The Library Aides help students find materials and books in the library and check out books to the students. They learn how to efficiently run a library and how to use the many references that are used in a library.

This year both the A.V. Boys and the Library Aides incorporated themselves in the S.L.A.A.M. Club. Sometime in the early spring they plan an excursion to the annual S.L.A.A.M. convention. At the convention the groups will split up and go to several smaller meetings where they will learn how to do their work more effectively.

Police Force Enforces Lunch-Line Laws

The Police Force is a group of seniors who are selected by the Alderman-at-large to enforce the rules of the school. The lunch-lines are watched over at noon and wanderers are kept out of the classroom halls during the lunch hours. As you can see, these husky boys mean business as Marv found out!

"Pro" Debaters Argue Pros And Cons

The Debate Club's purpose is to "promote sound thinking and further clarity in the forensic art", or in everyday English, to transform one into a more effective disputant. They perform their art in practice debates with other schools in the Capital Circuit. They will also be participating in the tournament to be held in Ann Arbor. Debate was held as a regular class this year for the first time to allow all students interested to be able to participate. The subject for this year's Debate class was, Resolved: That Congress should establish uniform criminal investigation procedures.

F.F.A. And F.H.A. Promote

The girls of F.H.A. and the boys of F.F.A. got together for a hayride at the beginning of the year in which everybody had a hay-throwing time.

This year the girls are planning along with the leadership of their new advisor, Mrs. Waldron, the usual parties and teas during the year. If anything is gained in this club, it is fun and experience.

The F.F.A., in addition to holding their annual game dinner for members and their families, are collecting and bottling maple syrup each spring. The F.F.A. also took a field trip to M.S.U. for Farmer's Week and spent the entire day there.

Anchora Announces Spring Delivery

For the first time in Mason's history, the responsibility of publishing the yearbook was given to a regular class for the 1967-68 school year. This has proved an added boost to the once-failing Anchora, as a full-time staff can devote the necessary time to make a superior yearbook.

Much knowledge has been gained by each class member in the hows and whys of yearbook production.

The class has one benefit before it starts. Usually only sincerely interested people sign up. It is hoped that enough students will sign up each year to keep the class going as it has proved to be both interesting and profitable.

Amusez-Vous Au Cercle Français

The French Club has a dual aim: (1) to become acquainted with the French language and customs, and (2) to have FUN! From the educational aspect, they are hoping to go to Quebec, but it may never graduate from the planning stages.

They have very successfully attained the second goal by holding a "Grape Festival", complete with reigning Queen and Princess.

Am I to understand that a "Grape Festival" is a national holiday in France?

El Mundo Es Nuestra Clase

The Spanish Club holds aims similar to those of its French and Latin counterparts here at M.H.S., that of promoting an interest in and further understanding of Spanish speaking countries and their customs.

The Club has been very active, seeing movies of a member's trip to Mexico, and hearing a Venezuelan exchange student from Michigan State speak about his homeland. They also had a pinata party at Christmas and are planning a Spanish-American dinner, and more slide programs as well.

It's Hot Dog For The Art Club!

The Art Club has discovered ingenious ways to keep its members busy. Throughout the year, they made scenery for the annual musical, and they helped out tremendously with the decorations for the winter homecoming and the Psychedelic Sweetheart Dance. To raise the necessary funds for their expenses, the club sold hotdogs during the basketball games this year. To add a little zest this year, the club is planning a trip to a Detroit museum to see works of modern artists.

Latin — The Modern Language

Don't let anyone try to tell you that Latin is a dead language, because it is very much alive in the halls of M.H.S. The aim of the Latin club is to further and encourage the study of Latin through playlet, T.V. commercials, and the "Match Game"—all in Latin!

B.I.A.A. Welcomes New Sponsors

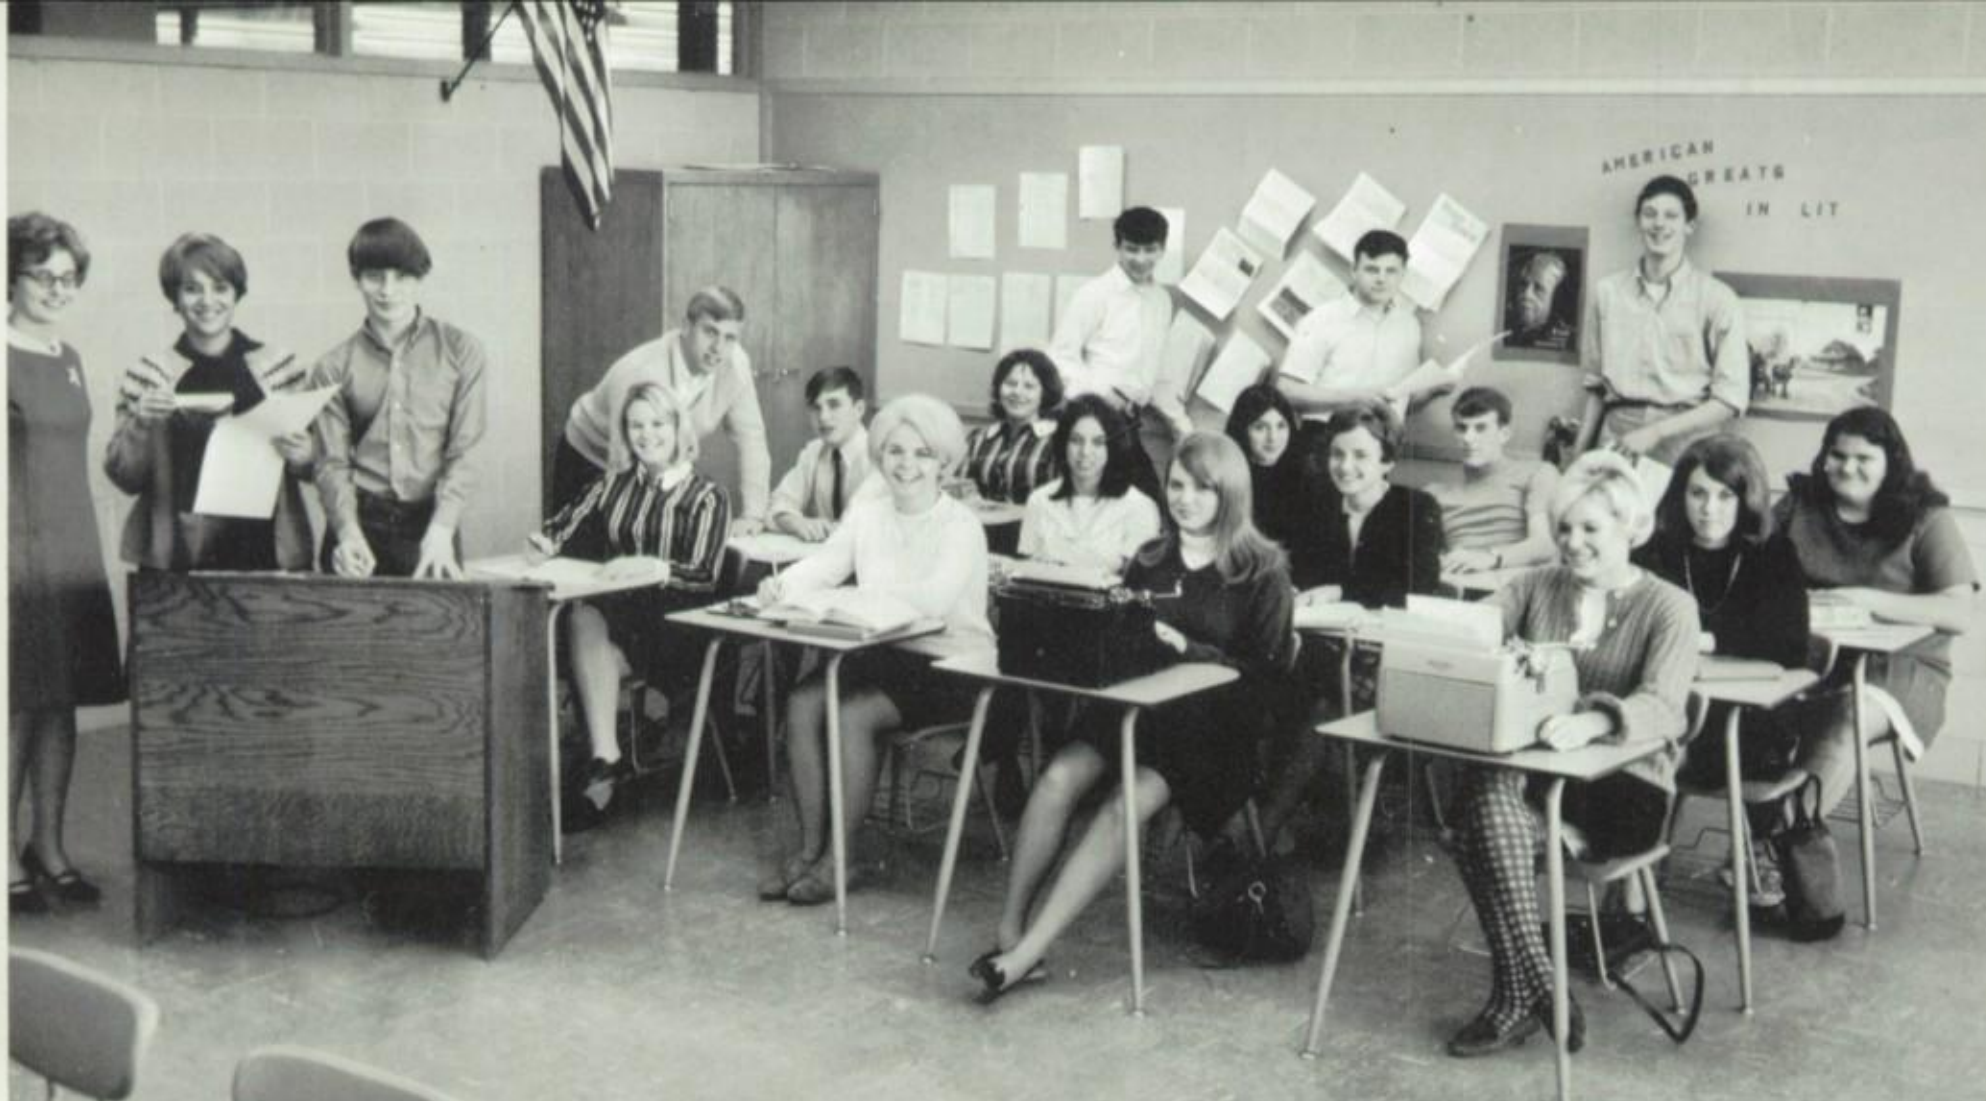

The Basic Industrial Arts Association this year had a new sponsor, Mr. Ed Heaviland who was assisted by Mr. Don Dexter. The purpose of this organization is to promote unity in the students and give opportunity to further exploration in the industrial field. In November, the club toured the Fisher Body Plant in Lansing to see how the courses they take in school would prepare them for jobs there. Also this year, the club helped to pay for the new flags of the Capital Circuit teams that were hung in the gym. During fall Homecoming Week, the boys built a float, entered it in the parade, and won third prize. The boys who do not take metal shop this year are being given an opportunity to work on extracurricular projects on certain nights of the week. Plans for the future include going through the Ford Company Rouge Plant sometime this spring.

G.A.A. = Fellowship + Fun

The GAA Club is a club for the girls who are interested in athletics and fellowship. Its purpose is to have fun and to promote good sportsmanship. They play every kind of sport imaginable and have a good time doing it! It also includes such activities as roller skating and bowling. During March, the girls in GAA participated in a volleyball tournament at Howell with four other Capital Circuit schools. If you like to participate in all kinds of sports, but can't fit gym class into your schedule, this is the club for you!

Hi-Life Features Bull-Dog Life

The Hi-Life Staff busies itself all year with putting out the issues of the school's newspaper. The Hi-Life, run like the Anchora, introduces the student to journalism theory and practice.

This year the Hi-Life has featured gossip columns; birthdays-of-the-month, "Cashews", a take-off on Peanuts, jokes, Senior Salute, Junior Salute, editorials on pressing school matters, and interviews. The editors have attended conferences at Waverly High School and the University of Detroit in order to learn how to put together a more interesting paper.

Underclassmen

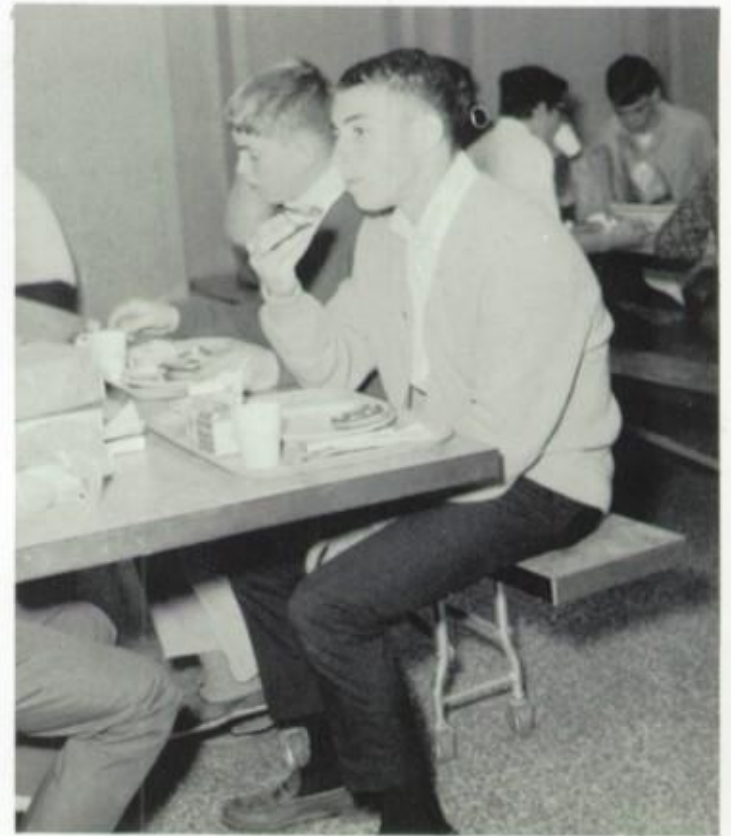

Although most eyes are turned to seniors and graduation, one must not overlook the juniors and sophomores or their valuable contributions to Mason High School this year. They are forming the goals, and obtaining experiences on which they will look back with nostalgia in the year to come.

Oh thou that from thy mansion
Through time and place to roam,
Dost send abroad thy children,
And then dost call them home,

That men and tribes and nations
And all thy hand hath made
May shelter them from sunshine
In thine eternal shade:

We now to peace and darkness
And earth and thee restore
Thy creature that thou madest
And will cast forth no more.

Sports

Athletics has been a part of our lives since the beginning of time. The playing field, just like the ancient jousting lists of knighthood, stands for courage, ability and personal sacrifice. The following pages are devoted to those who, for personal achievement and for the name and honor of Mason High School, have given their ultimate effort.

Coach
Marvin Pulver

Mason's Roadrunners

The coming of fall signals the advent of the cross country season. Many long hours of practice are spent in preparation for their tests of strength and endurance.

The cross country runners are unsung heroes during the fall. The overshadowing of football makes these long, tedious miles of effort seemingly unimportant compared to the spectacular aspects of other sports.

The team put in many miles and long hours for little fame or glory. Coached by Marvin Pulver, the runners compiled a record of two wins and five losses.

Homecoming Festivities Delight Crowds

Tradition demands plenty when it comes to Mason High School's Football Homecoming and this year's extravaganza ranked among the most eventful.

Each class had its day to exhibit pep and enthusiasm for our gridders. Students hurried home after school and then to the places where class and organizational floats awaited completion.

Thursday night a pep rally at the football field was well attended.

Friday was "all school" pep day. After school a caravan of MHS students traveled through Holt showing Mason's pep and determination.

Debbie

An exceptionally strong wind brought the demise of the senior class float as it was being towed to the parade lineup. The original theme "Jam the Rams" was abandoned and signs stating "Tear up Holt" and "Wreck the Rams" were attached to the wreckage. It proved to be the most interesting, if not the most original float in the parade.

During the ceremonies Debbie Howe was crowned queen by Charlene Carter, last year's queen. Jim Powers was crowned king.

The game itself proved to be no less exciting than the week's activities. The Bulldogs met the Rams in a Do-or-Die effort for victory. Mason held the lead with 6 points until the last quarter when Holt also scored. Thus the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

This year proved to be full of many firsts for Mason High and, to add to the list, Mason came through with its first swimming team. The team, under the direction of Coach John Medler, helped to establish our school as a competitor in all sports. Although only a few meets were scheduled this year, the experience, which is very important for a swimming team, was advanced to lay the ground-work for our teams of the future. The highlight of the team's season was its win over Flint Ainsworth.

With its first year of competition behind it, there is nothing but words of praise to be said for Mason's wrestling team. The team's finish in the league was not important when compared to the individual efforts made and achievements won by our first year team. Many acclaims were received by the team for its ability and desire—attributes resulting from the fine direction given by Mason's new coach, Joe Colagross.

The highlight of the year was the team's victory at the Dewitt Invitational Tournament where Mason placed first out of six teams.

Capital Circuit Competition Toughest In Years

This year's basketball team was anything but the underdog, since the other teams in the circuit were very careful and aware when they played us. Under the direction of Coach Bruce DePue, Mason put on astounding performances of ball handling and marksmanship. The cherished position of first place in the league was missed by only a game, but in the eyes of all loyal Bulldogs, this year's team was the best in several seasons.

Queen Sue Smith King Garry VanderVeen

Anticipated throughout Pep Week, the 1968 Basketball Homecoming was full of surprises. The suspense began to mount when preliminary voting was held on Wednesday for the members of the royal court. With the announcement of the royal contenders on Thursday, and final voting on Friday, Homecoming Week approached its high point.

In Friday's pep assembly, school spirit was greatly enhanced by a cheering competition among the classes, in which the mighty sophomores placed first. The seniors soon forgot their loss with the announcement of the 1968 Senior Hall of Fame.

Queen

The excitement continued into the evening when the Raiders tried to dampen our spirits with a 76-62 defeat, but the crowning of our royalty, Queen Sue Smith and King Garry VanderVeen, caused our enthusiasm to soar higher. Following the game, the Bulldogs danced to the music provided by "The Paris Bakery" in an atmosphere inspired by Dr. Zhivago, and its theme song, "Somewhere My Love".

And so the 1968 Basketball Homecoming ended after a whirl of pep competition, royal excitement, athletic challenge, and psychedelic dancing. Although we were unable to Rip the Raiders, we could still boast of Bulldog Spirit.

The mold has been cast this year in the form of the junior varsity basketball team, for a "better-than-ever" varsity team next year. Coach Art Frank led next year's varsity hopefuls to a practically undefeated season. With his supervision, Mason can be sure of solid prospects for the varsity squad.

This past year we have witnessed a number of changes in our curriculum. The subjects, teachers and students all change but the emotions expressed never vary.

The eager look of the sophomore as he enters the classroom for the first time; the despair of a senior upon being caught skipping; the "tired" look as you sit through a lecture for the fifteenth time.

We have tried to capture "the many sides of M.H.S." and we hope the following pages remind you of your numerous hours spent here.

Originality

It's all ended . . .

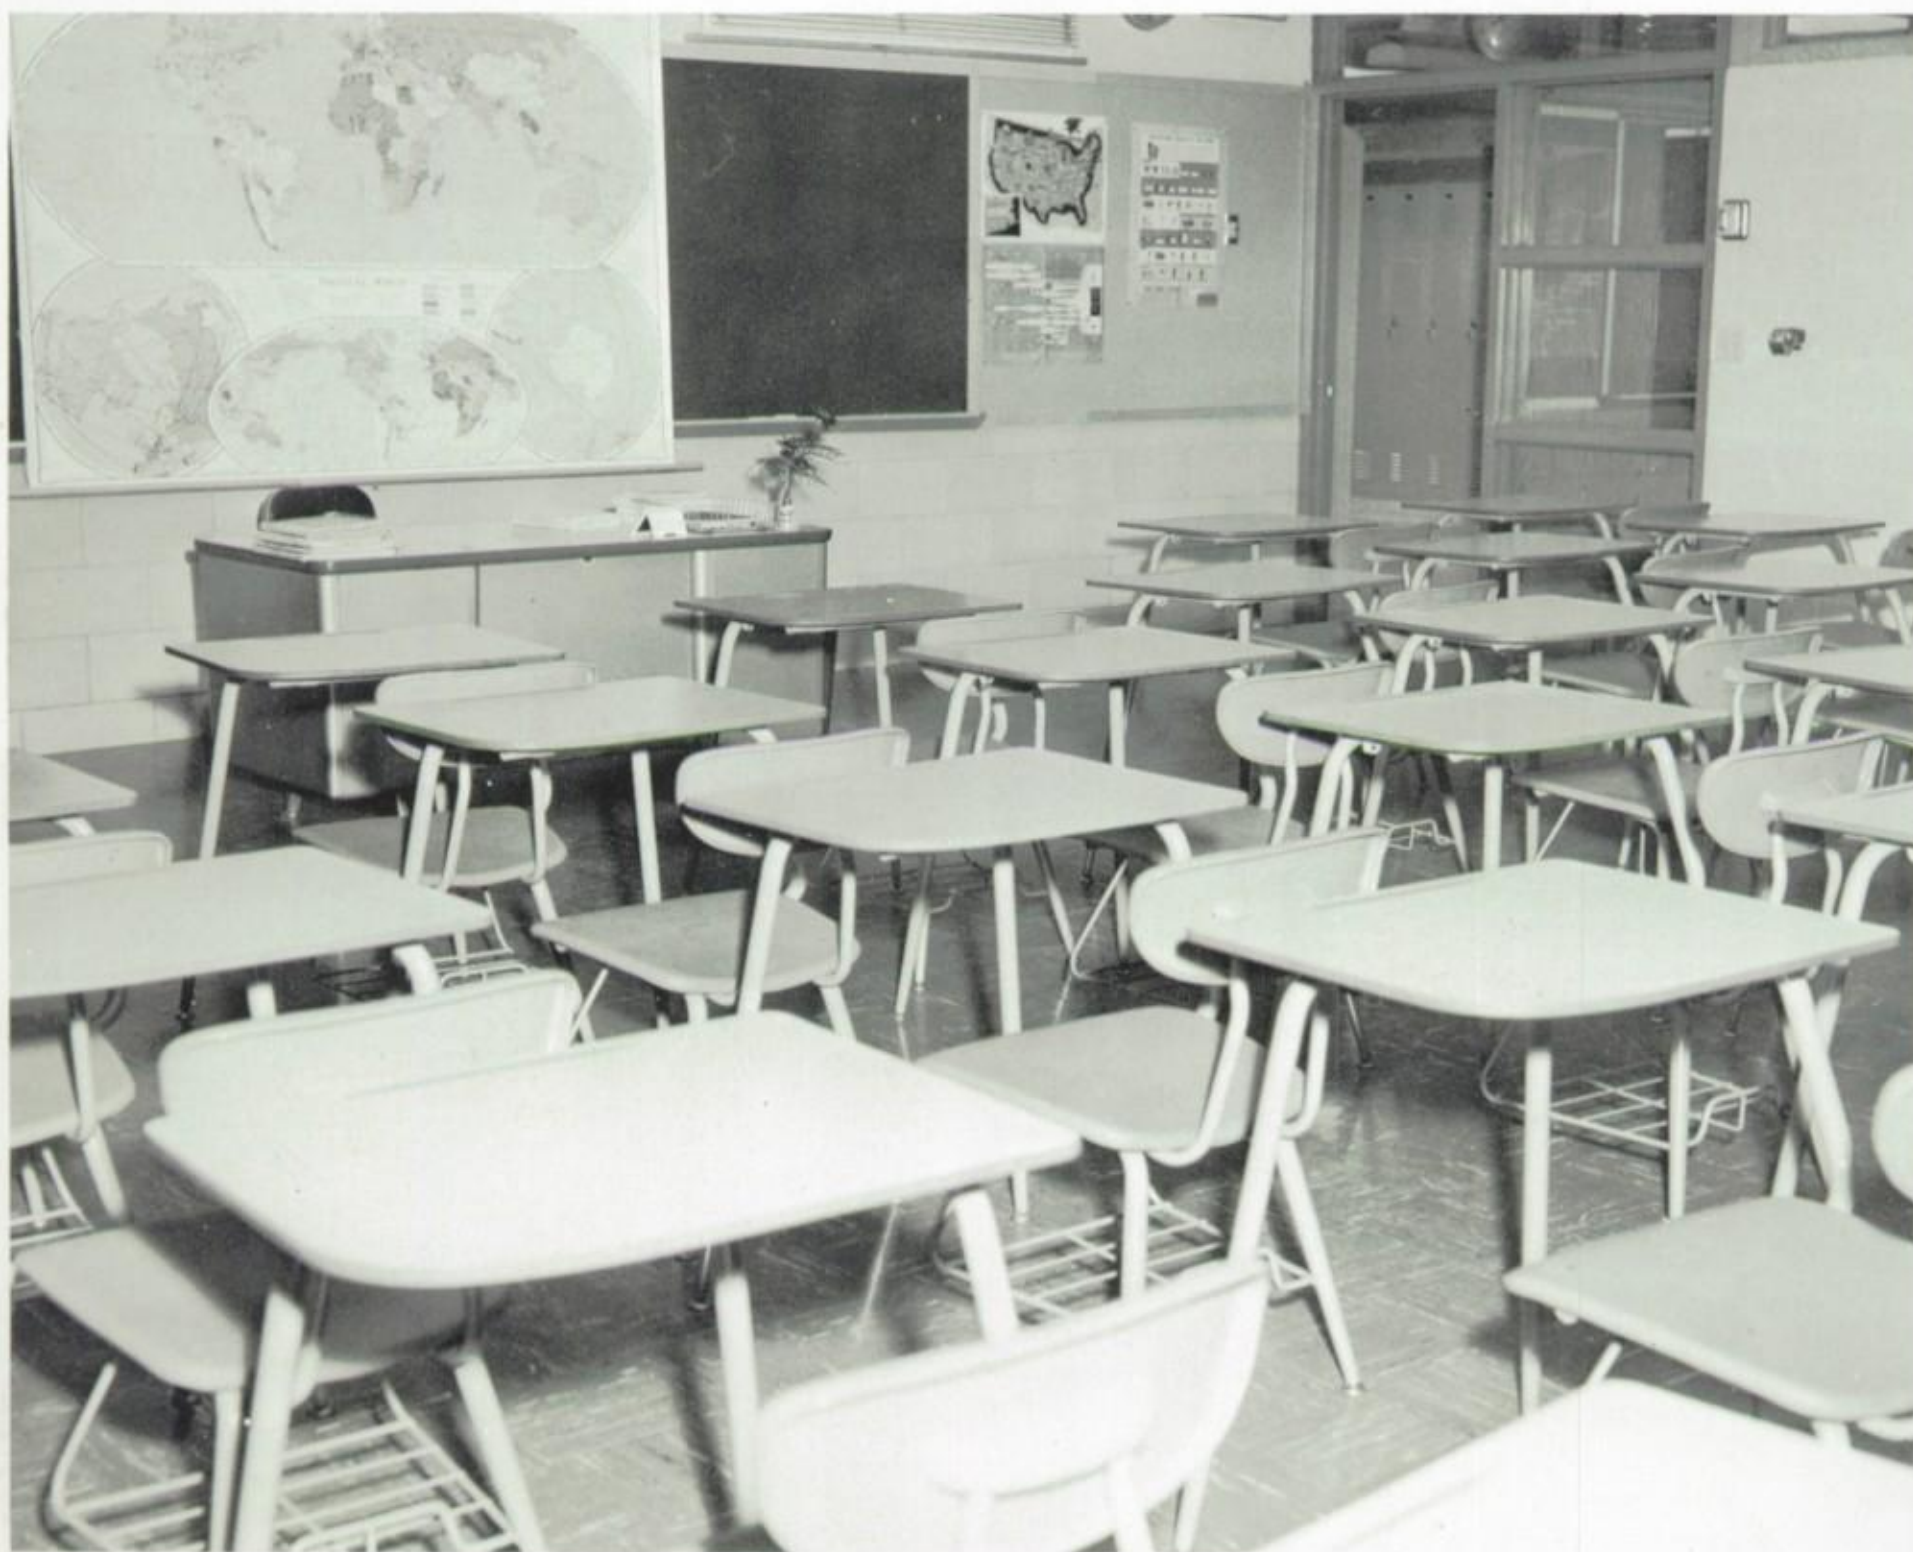

. . . with a simple three second bell.

The arguments, the difficulties, the satisfaction, the sense of accomplishment.

Many hurry to leave—the day was long. Others linger. There's team practice, cheerleading tryouts, play rehearsal. The floors need to be swept, the windows washed, the telephone answered, and the homework graded.

But somehow, it's just not the same. Something's missing. The shriek of discovery, the groan of despair, the crowded halls.

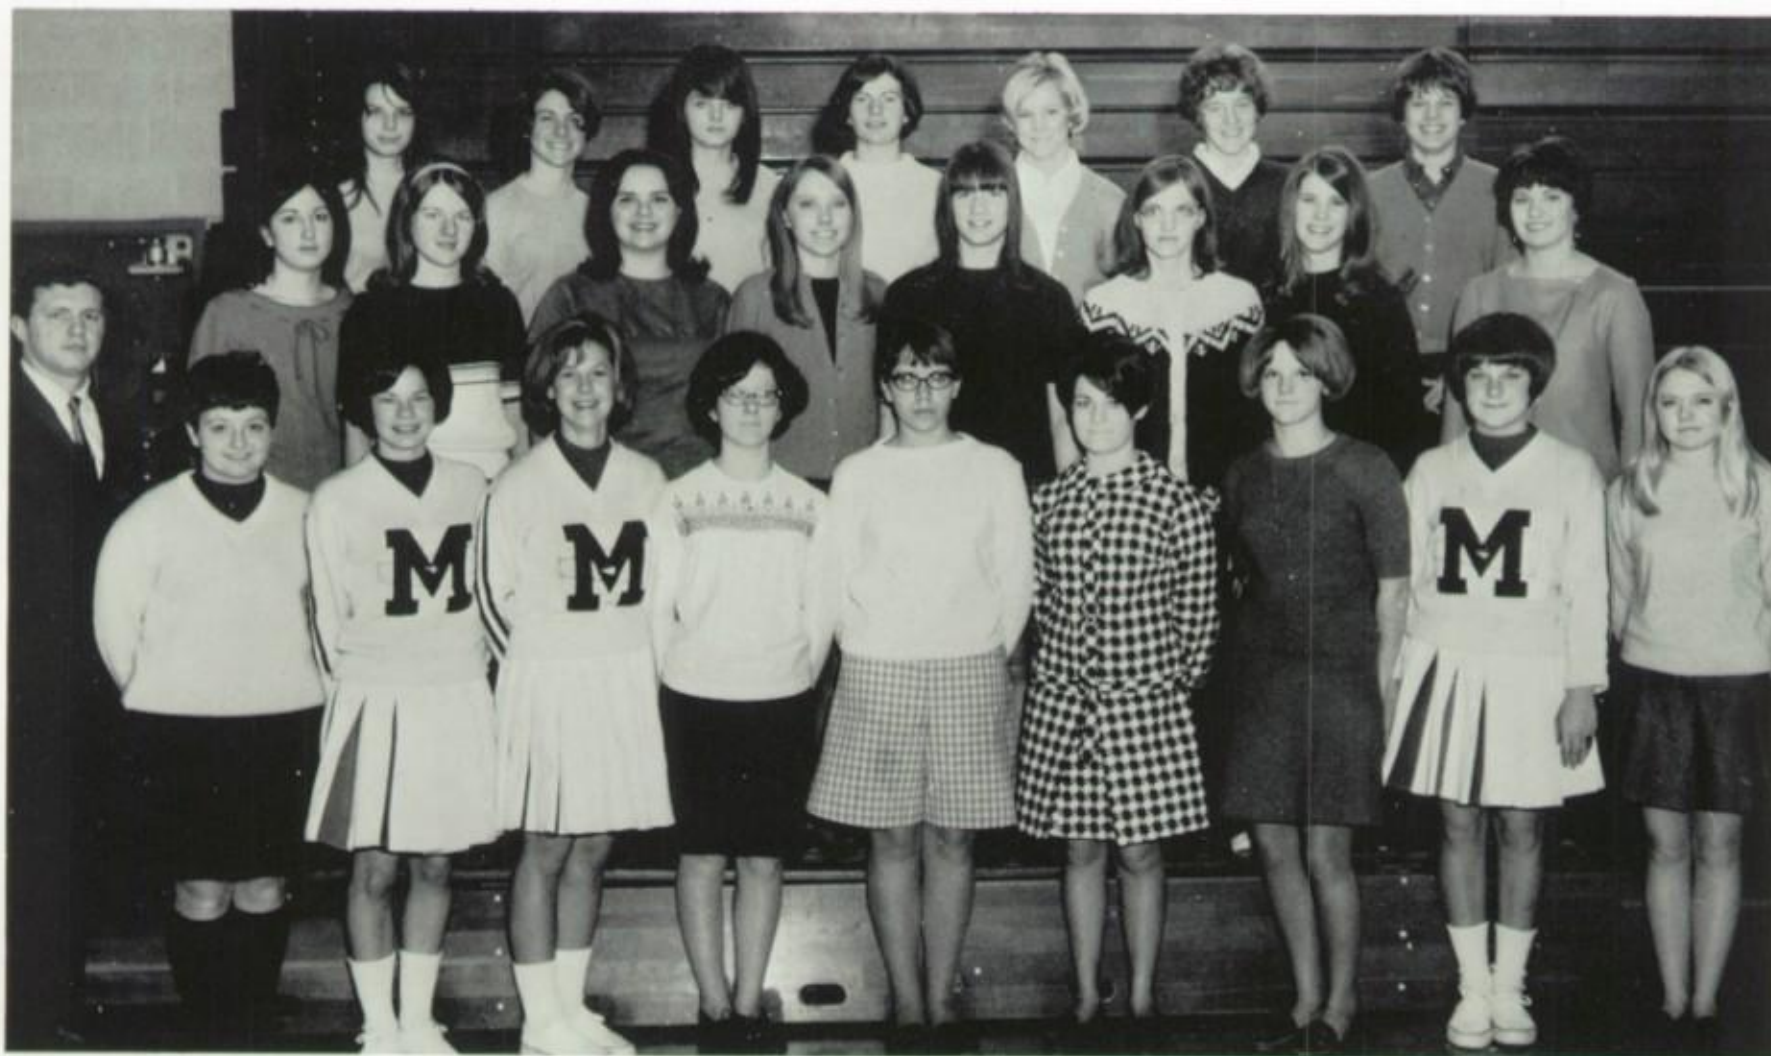

Not all is lost however. The frantic rush will start anew . . . tomorrow.

Activities

Our emotions have been expressed throughout our active year. By now we have all faced fear many times, before and after report cards come; the excitement of a big game; the happiness of our dances. As you recollect, the activities depicted on the following pages, do you recall your reaction to each of them, Suspense? Apprehension? Panic? Sadness? Apathy? Dismay? Joy?

First row: Mr. J. Colagross, coach, J. Hill, M. Thorburn, C. Bartlett, M. Heikkila, J. Starr, J. Bush, G. Willis, P. Clipper, S. Sedgman. Second row: K. Dunn, K. Philo, S. Smith, N. Field, M. Edgar, R. Felton, B. Duke, D. Singer. Third row: S. Sims, C. Bitgood, P. Cook, K. Thorburn, L. Keith, D. Knauf, D. Jacob.

Valentine's Day inspired a Psychedelic Sweetheart Dance on February 10 in the cafeteria. The semi-formal dance was sponsored by the senior class with proceeds going for the class trip. Refreshments of punch and cookies were prepared and served by members of the senior class. The "Finest Our" from Michigan State University provided the melodies to which the valentine couples danced, and in general made merry, until Cupid called a halt to romantic merriment at the bewitching hour.

ODE TO OUR YOUNG PEOPLE
— — — — —

How may we serve you? Let us count the ways! There's not enough room to tell ALL the ways we can serve you, then there is to express the faith and hope we have for your generation! But let's look at a few ways. We have your checking account. The most reasonable—the smartest—in town! We can see to it that your savings GROW!

We can make it possible for you to own a car, or mobile home! We were the nation's first bank to do this for its young folks! We can help you own your very own home! Take care of your valuables—and give investment service.

Or, in just listening to your ideas. Yes. In just listening. We know that unless we continue to learn from you, we cannot hope to meet your needs, and fulfill a place in your future!

We're proud of you! Come in and get acquainted!

This has been our year, smiles and frowns, tears and toils; from the excitement of the stadium to the agony of finals. The time from the eagerness of a Sophomore's entrance to the reluctance of a Senior's exit is portrayed here for you. As we journey the road to the future, we hesitate to discard the past and yet we eagerly look forward to the new and exciting ideas and changes which are made possible only by dedication and a strong determination to better our school for ourselves and for those who follow us.

This is the record of the past year. The record of future years rests with time.
